COURT OUT

COUNCIL chiefs have been hit by a volley of embarrassment over their attempts to get Harlow's residents healthy following revelations a massive 80 per cent of council-owned tennis courts in the town are unusable during Wimbledon fortnight.

As millions across the world tune in to watch the efforts of Brit Andy Murray, scores of families inspired by the championship have been left disappointed after arriving at their local courts to find they have no nets or are in a state of disrepair.

The situation is embarrassing for the council, which is trying to encourage people in the town to become more physically active to address Harlow's huge obesity problem.

The authority has blamed lack of funds for the situation. But one family which was left with nowhere to play after arriving at Slacksbury Hatch courts to find no nets has slammed the state of affairs as 'ridiculous'.

Kay Tucker (40) of Little Parndon said her partner Panos Sanoziolis (40) took their children Yiannis (11) and Aris (6) to play tennis after they watched the start of Wimbledon last week.

"My partner said when they got there, he saw kids were making a fire and others were hanging about because there is nothing to do.

"Last year, out of three tennis courts at Slacksbury Hatch, there were just the remnants of an old net which people queued to use.

"We are going to have the Olympics down the road in a few years and the council is always going on about wanting to promote sports in Harlow but there's not even anywhere to play tennis during Wimbledon fortnight. It just seems as bit rich and a bit ridiculous."

Out of the 15 courts the council owns across Bush Fair, Black Bush Springs, Northbrooks, Staple Tye and The Dashes, only three at Church Langley are in working order.

A spokesman for the council, which has laid on a series of classes and initiatives over the past year to get Harlow's residents fit, said it has not been possible to maintain the courts because of a limit on budgets, but said it has earmarked funds to carry out some repairs.

He added: "The council is working towards making small improvements in a number of the facilities, but budget limitations make it difficult to bring all courts back up to usable standard immediately.

"There are also plans for new courts to be included in the regeneration of the Staple Tye area in the near future, subject to planning consent."

Kids are great sports!
(That hand's a bit cheeky though...)

ENERGETIC children had the chance to put their sporting skills to the test when they braved the heat to take part in a Wimbledon-inspired sports day.

As parents happily ate the obligatory strawberries and cream, toddlers from Leapfrog Day Nursery in Harlow Business Park took part in a host of activities including egg and spoon racing, balancing and running.

Monday's event was put on to coincide with the two-week tennis tournament and encourage children to get active outdoors.

Manager, Kim Shinn, said: "The day was great fun - the children enjoyed their parents coming to watch."

More hospital 'theft' victims come forward

POLICE were called to Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital seven times in 14 months to investigate reports of jewellery or money being stolen from patients.

But the true figure for alleged thefts is likely to be much higher, as the hospital admitted 'various other' incidents in which cash or property has apparently been taken and the police have not been informed.

The news comes as the hospital vowed to review protocol for recording and storing patients' property following allegations made in the Star last month that two diamond rings were stolen from the body of a dead pensioner and claims that a stroke victim had a diamond solitaire engagement ring taken. Both incidents are currently subject to police and hospital investigations.

This week, more people came forward to claim their jewellery or a family member's jewellery had been taken at PAH.

Gay Barnard (45) of Malkin Drive, Harlow, told the Star a necklace and a pair of earrings went missing from a bedside cabinet while she was being treated at the hospital in May. Ruth Chapman (54) from Hunsdon, said her family reported to hospital staff that her elderly mother had a wedding band removed from her body three years ago. The ring has never been recovered. And Estelle Wilkes (32) of Gibcroft, Harlow, said she went to police after claiming a diamond ring was stolen from the body of her mother, Joy Wilkes, five years ago. The report was investigated but, again, the ring was never recovered.

Figures released by the hospital to the Star show from April 2008-March 2009, police were called five times for theft allegations. However, officers have been called in twice since regarding further claims.

A PAH spokesman said: "The Trust takes these incidents very seriously."

"There have been various other incidents in which money or property is apparently stolen from patients and staff who leave handbags or jackets unattended."

Taxpayers forced to splash out on pool

By CHRIS MOSS

mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL taxpayers unwittingly forked out a staggering £43,000 over the last financial year to pay for security guards to protect Harlow's disused swimming pool from vandals and squatters.

The leisure facility was closed to the public in November 2007 after an architectural survey found the building to be structurally unsound and it has remained unoccupied since.

It was supposed to have been demolished to make way for new housing as part of the multi-million pound Gateway Project, but Harlow Council has yet to find a developer willing to take on the project and has instead splashed out on private security firm, BritSec, to protect the vacant asset.

In addition to the extravagant security costs, the council also paid out £13,000 for the dilapidated building to be supplied with electricity.

The startling figures were listed as part of a major overspend on predicted regeneration costs in the authority's annual statement of accounts, which also revealed the council spent a further £9,000 on another structural survey of the empty building last year.

Councillor Simon Carter, chairman of the council's policy and resources committee, told the Star: "The ongoing costs for the former swimming pool are mainly to keep security on site until new owners take over."

"A large unoccupied building is prone to vandalism and that could create dangers. A property company has been appointed to market the site with its development brief and we are hopeful that the transfer of the site to a new owner can be finalised as soon as possible."

But Matthew Sinclair, research director at the TaxPayers' Alliance, said the costs were unjustified.

"It is outrageous that taxpayers' money is being wasted securing a building that is due to be demolished," he said. "This project has clearly been delayed too long and is now struggling to find private investors with credit hard to come by."

He added: "Councils need to do more to plan developments so that their properties don't sit empty for so long, particularly when there is still so much pressure being put on green field land."

Riverside pub signs up for Floodline scheme

A RIVERSIDE pub prone to flooding will now have advance warning of heavy rainfall after registering for an innovative new alert service provided by the Environment Agency.

The Moorhen, located on the banks of the River Stort off Burnt Mill Lane, Harlow, will receive alerts and real-time updates via telephone, text message and email from Floodline Warnings Direct to keep staff informed of any flood risks in the local area.

Landlady Tracey Platt said: "I am delighted that we have signed up - it will be very useful to us just to know in advance if any floods are coming so that we can make any necessary preparations."

Although anyone can register for the free service, only around 30 per cent of the properties in Harlow identified by the Environment Agency as being at risk of flooding have signed up.

Marie's mission to help hospice

Peru for a 10-day
trek.

Marie (21), who lives in Harlow and works for Pitney Bowes, is embarking on the challenge in September because she wants to experience new things. She will walk up to 10 hours a day at heights of up to 6,000 metres as she passes through picturesque locations such as Tambomachay, an Incan archaeological site. She hopes to raise about £3,000 for St Clare Hospice at Hastingwood. "I originally wanted to do something for myself but then I remembered the hospice and thought I might as well raise money for a worthwhile charity at the same time," she said this week.

"I was going to go to the Himalayas for the experience but then Peru came up and it just seemed so exciting. "Pitney Bowes has already helped me towards reaching my goal of raising £2,850 by holding a dress down day and cake sale which raised £400. Another £250 was donated from the charity at work so, with sponsorship pledges, I have managed to get £1,700 so far."

Marie is nervous about the expedition as she will not know any of her fellow walkers. But she has been training hard by cycling for 45 minutes twice a day to and from work.

"It's been hard to find any time to do any proper training with all this fundraising," she said, "but I'm sure I'll be ready for the challenge."

Once her group complete the walk they will have three days to make their way back to base.

"I think we will be slower making our way back," said Marie. "I'm sure our feet will be sore."

Have fun getting fit

COUCH potatoes will be able to chip away at the excess pounds with new boxercise classes.

The sessions – organised Harlow Council, Harlow 2020 Partnership and Hoggs Fitness – have been described as one of the most effective forms of cross-training as they combine both aerobic and anaerobic energy systems.

Sessions will be running at the Chinese community centre in Lower Meadow, Commons Road, Harlow, on Wednesdays between 6-7pm at a cost of £3 or £1.50 for holders of a C-category leisure card.

For more information about the sessions, log on to the website at www.hoggsfitness.co.uk.

Shop's charity goal

STAFF at the Epping branch of Marks and Spencer are doing their fundraising best to collect money for St Clare Hospice.

So far they have raised more than £350 through book and cake sales and intend to increase the amount by holding more events including a sponsored slim and a wear a pink wig day.

Their fundraising efforts will culminate in a Big Give Day in September, when each of the charities supported by M&S will be presented with a cheque.

Cash for St Clare

HARLOW Friends of St Clare Hospice was presented with a cheque for £1,220 by Peter Gould, of Harlow, and Len Bodell, of Sawbridgeworth, after they completed a 26-mile sponsored walk from Harlow to Canary Wharf.

Brownies given lessons in safety

POLICE community support officer Phyllis Chipchase dropped in at the Church Langley Brownies to give some valuable safety advice.

Ms Chipchase spoke about personal safety, stranger danger, property marking and fingerprinting as part of a four-week programme to help the Brownies gain their crime prevention and road safety badges. She was joined by Harlow road safety officer Kim Shenton who gave valuable road safety information.

As part of the programme the Brownies will also be warned about the dangers of drugs and get the opportunity to take part in a practical lesson on road safety.

"The girls really enjoyed the lessons," said PCSO Chipchase. "We are now looking to provide a scaled-down version soon for the Church Langley Rainbows." s)

Residents do speed checks

RESIDENTS are helping bolster Harlow's thin blue line by becoming speed wardens.

A number of people are being trained by police to use speed guns to reduce the number of accidents and speeding motorists in wards across the town.

Central neighbourhood policing officer, PC Rob Hance said: "Having community members willing to give up a couple of hours a week to carry out speed monitoring has been a real asset."

Seatbelt fine set to double

DRIVERS caught flouting the law by not wearing a seatbelt will now be strapped up with a £60 fine.

From Tuesday, Essex Police doubled the normal £30 fixed penalty notice for the offence. The new fee will also be sought from drivers found to have a registration mark that does not conform to regulations.

MP challenged to justify expenses

UNDER-FIRE Harlow MP Bill Rammell has been challenged to justify his extravagant expense claims to angry constituents at a public meeting.

Prospective Tory Parliamentary candidate Robert Halfon has called on Mr Rammell to explain his use of taxpayers' money to pay for the renovation of his Harlow home and items including a DVD player, suitcase, garden table and even a kitchen sink.

The details came to light in heavily-edited details of Mr Rammell's expense claims dating back to 2004 published on the Commons website last week.

The documents, reported on in the Star, revealed the Minister for The Armed Forces had splashed out more than £5,000 on a new bathroom, £3,250 on the redecoration of his hall, stairs

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

and landing and more than £1,000 carpeting his hallway and a guest bedroom.

The MP – who currently earns £104,050 a year – was shown to have regularly claimed the maximum £400 per month food allowance between 2004 and 2006.

Mr Halfon suggested the best way for the beleaguered MP to answer his critics would be to stage a public question and answer session.

"Many other MPs from all parties caught up in the expenses scandal have held public meetings in order to justify themselves," he said.

"What better way to demonstrate openness and transparency than to meet with residents and explain his actions?"

But Mr Rammell accused his Conservative opponent of playing "party politics" and said constituents were welcome to come and discuss their concerns over his expenses at one of his regular advice surgeries.

"This isn't about party politics," he told the Star. "It should be about MPs of all parties working to restore trust."

"As for public accountability, I have always made myself available to constituents for question and scrutiny by holding regular advice surgeries and Meet Your MP meetings. I firmly intend to continue to do this and I will account for my actions to my constituents."

● In last week's summary of Mr Rammell's Parliamentary expense claims, the Star incorrectly stated that he had stopped claiming for anything other than his mortgage costs in March of this year, when the actual date was in fact March 2008.

Who's a nappy little chappy?

CRAFTY kids made their own fun when they took part in a toddlers' toy-making workshop with a distinctly green theme during National Recycling Week.

Joined by their parents and members of Harlow Council's recycling team at the Sure Start Centre located in the grounds of Burnt Mill School, the tots made musical shakers and mobiles from recycled objects, built cardboard box cars and created kites from old carrier bags and bin liners.

The intrepid youngsters even embarked on nature walks to collect natural recyclable materials, while their mums and dads learnt all about green products such as re-usable nappies.

Councillor Tony Hall, chairman of the environment and community committee, said: "Children are great recyclers – every parent knows that if you buy a child a toy, they'll play with the box!"

"There are so many items that can be re-used and reinvented – a plastic container can be a rocket ship one day and turned into a car the next."

For more information on recycling and how you can do your bit to help the environment, log onto www.recycleforsex.co.uk.

Booze ban on caught-out newsagent

A NEWSAGENT has been banned from selling booze after it was caught supplying alcohol to a youth during an undercover operation.

Sunlight shop, trading as Wills News in Staple Tye shopping centre, had its licence suspended for eight weeks for selling alcohol to a child under 18.

The ban comes after Essex County Council Trading Standards officials, police and Harlow Council carried out a test purchasing operation in January.

Eight premises were checked in a covert sting and Wills News failed. Its licence was reviewed at a meeting of the council's licensing sub-committee last week, which decided to suspend the shop's alcohol licence until August 24. The sanction means no booze can be sold or displayed for sale. The premises will also have to appoint a new licence holder, make sure a designated premises supervisor is always on site and make sure all staff sit their national certificate for personal licence holders.

Regular visits will be made by police and council officials to make sure the store complies with the measures.

Speaking about the move, Harlow police licensing officer Jenny McCallum said: "The suspension of this licence should send a strong message to anyone thinking of selling alcohol to children under 18."

High Court defeat costs council £24k

New Quasar venue is fired up

LASER-GUN wielding warriors have been getting their first taste of Harlow's impressive new Quasar Elite venue following its official opening on Saturday.

Both seasoned players and aspiring young gunslingers have already been wowed by the adrenaline-pumping action on offer at the Broadwalk leisure facility, which boasts the largest battle arena of its kind in the world as well as a cafe, restaurant, junior gym and children's soft-play area. Managing director Bob Webb told the Star the venue's opening week had remained busy despite the hot weather and initial feedback was encouraging.

HARLOW Council's embarrassing High Court defeat over plans to dramatically slash the budget of Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice resulted in the cash-strapped authority splashing out £24,000 in court costs and legal fees, the Star can reveal.

The shocking figure was included among details of major variations in the council's community services budget published as part of its annual statement of accounts.

The authority was taken to court in March by Harlow residents and HWRA clients Geraldine Meaney, Patricia Glynn and Greig Sanders, who were appalled at the scale of the crippling service cutbacks voted for by Conservative members of the policy and resources committee.

Following a two-day hearing, Mr Justice Davies ruled that the council had failed to give "due regard" to the impact a funding cut of up to 82 per cent would have on the most vulnerable and needy members of the town's community and ordered the authority to reconsider its plans.

It was also told to pay two-thirds

By CHRIS MOSS
mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

of the claimants' court costs and was prohibited from appealing against the decision.

The full cost of the cutbacks is likely to rise significantly when redundancy payouts for ex-employees are finalised.

Yet despite the unnecessary expenditure, which could have been avoided had Tory members sitting on the council's scrutiny committee voted to overturn the original decision to cut funding after it was called-in by opposition councillors, policy and resources committee chairman Simon Carter claimed the High Court fiasco was ultimately of little importance.

"It's regrettable that the action was taken on behalf of the HWRA, but it did not significantly alter the process and we now have a contract in place that is saving around £400K a year," he told the Star.

"We made it clear at the outset that more money was just not available, but we understand that the group was hopeful that a court challenge might have changed this.

"The new contract is delivering better value for Harlow Council taxpayers and at the same time maintaining core advice services in the town."

Pensioners facing alarm system hike

CASH-strapped pensioners could have to fork out for a vital support service as part of a radical shake-up of Harlow Council's sheltered housing programme.

Under plans being looked at by housing chiefs, the authority is in line to raise nearly £10,000 extra a year by hiking up the price of its outreach scheme.

Currently, pensioners who qualify for the service pay nothing for a 24-hour alarm system.

But under proposals due to be discussed tonight (Thursday), the charge for outreach clients living in private accommodation could rise to £8.41 per week.

As well as the alarm, the charge would cover the cost of a sheltered housing officer visiting the address on a weekly, fortnightly or monthly basis, depending on the client's needs and level of support they have from other people including carers and family members.

The move is part of a wider shake-up of the sheltered housing service which was agreed by councillors in January following a review which reaffirmed the need to redirect resources to so-called high priority activities including floating support and outreach services.

Until now, the cost of the scheme has been covered by other financing, but it is claimed the funds are too stretched for the arrangement to continue.

Council officers have recommended councillors approve the plan.

But Les Coben, chairman of Harlow's Pensioner Action Association, said the proposals were not palatable.

"I think it's absolutely disgusting," he told the Star. "How are people going to afford that? £8 a week is a big chunk of their money and it just goes to show the people in power in this town have no idea how real people live."

The plan will be discussed as part of a housing committee meeting which will take place from 7.30pm tonight at the Civic Centre.

Reg tried very hard to teach us times tables

By LOUISE SASSOON

sassoonly@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PHOTOGRAPH taken at Cossor Electronics in the 1960s and printed on the Nostalgia page a few weeks ago has stirred the memories of one reader.

The photograph in question showed the farewell presentation to Reg Trew, who was leaving to become a school teacher.

Susan Johnson was one of the pupils Reg went on to teach and it seems he made quite an impression on his young charges.

"I was interested to see the photo of Reg being presented with a leaving gift from Cossor Electronics."

writes Susan. "He went to teach at Abbotswold Primary in the mid 1960s and was my class teacher for a term.

"I remember him as a good teacher who tried very hard to teach us our times tables! He was appalled at our lack of ability in that subject. He also set up a gardening club in which we cultivated a plot in the school grounds and even built a greenhouse.

"I believe he left to teach on the OLD SCHOOL: The photograph of Reg Trew that brought back childhood memories for Star reader Susan Johnson

T.S. Arethusan and I seem to remember going on a school trip to visit him in his new post. Perhaps Star readers with better memory powers can confirm this!"

But Susan got another surprise the week after we first published the photograph when she read the comments from another reader, Pete Fraser, who identified one of the other people in the picture as his uncle, Geroge Fraser.

"I was surprised to see George highlighted in the same photo as he lived two doors away from my house in Abbotswold," said Susan.

"His daughter Angela used to walk me to school as she was a bit older and more responsible.

"Thank you for bringing back so many memories."

If you have stories about working at Cossor or remember anyone who did, write to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email sassoonly@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Chairman finds time to take tea with the Cubs

A DOG-eared newspaper cutting dating back to 1982 and taken from the Guardian and Gazette arrived on the Nostalgia desk this week.

The picture shows Harlow Council chairman Bill Gibson drinking a cup of tea which was made for him by the 16th Shawnee Cub Scouts.

The event was part of a tea-making fortnight which set out to teach youngsters how to use household equipment safely.

The cutting was handed to us by Barley Croft resident Jennie Merritt, who found it blowing around East Park.

Thank you for sending it in, Jennie. If any readers have memories of the event - perhaps they were one of the Cub Scouts involved - then please get in touch. We'd love to hear from you.

Music schools reprieve

Harlow's music schools will remain open despite Essex County Council's decision to close them. Harlow Recreation Trust has come to the rescue by agreeing to pay the remaining three schools to stay open.

Flooding cost fears

Staff at Harlow Sportcentre are still counting the cost of floods which they fear could reach £50,000 if floors have to be replaced. Expensive timber floors in the main hall, six squash courts and trimasium buckled and warped under inches of flood water.

Pensioners' distress

Pensioners are being caused unnecessary distress and anxiety because of an increase in charges for home services. That's the claim of Harlow's welfare rights team which has heard from more than 50 OAPs who say they cannot afford the 75p increase.

Town's own TV channel

Harlow plans to unveil its own TV channel. The council will run the community and business channel to provide information about services and what's going on in the town.

David is named new president of Newspaper Society

PRESIDENT: David Fordham

DAVID Fordham, chief executive of Iliffe News and Media is the new president of the Newspaper Society.

He took up the role yesterday (Wednesday) and succeeds Michael Pelosi, managing director of Northcliffe Media, who has held the post for the past year.

A new NS president is elected from the membership every year in July and Georgina Harvey, Trinity Mirror Regionals managing director, has been appointed NS vice president.

Mr Fordham, whose Iliffe News and Media responsibilities include the Harlow Star, said: "The NS continues to have an important role representing local media and it is a pleasure to have been elected as its president for the coming year.

"Like all media, the industry is experiencing unprecedented challenges as a result of the recession but we have also seen that the need for independent, grass-roots news has never been greater.

"Local newspapers must be allowed to continue to fight for the causes their readers believe in and to continue to develop into truly multimedia news organisations in the digital age."

Mr Fordham has been chief executive of Iliffe News and Media since 2003 and is a main board director of the publisher's owner, Yattendon Investment Trust.

He serves on the NS Council and is a member of the Marketing Committee and the Independent Publishers Forum.

Mr Fordham started his career in 1971, when he joined Cambridge Newspapers as a sales administration assistant, before going on to hold various posts at Emap and Archant (formerly Eastern Counties Newspapers).

He was appointed chief executive of The Adscene Group in 1996, before returning to Yattendon Investment Trust as managing director of Cambridge Newspapers three years later.

Mr Fordham is married with three children and his interests include golf, photography, cooking and theatre.

The NS, the voice of Britain's local media, represents 1,300 newspapers, 1,200 websites, 450 magazines, 250 ultra local titles, 45 radio stations and two TV stations.

Truancy crackdown after shock figures

PUPILS at secondary schools across Harlow missed out on a staggering 8,000 half-days of education due to truancy in just one term.

And primary school pupils in the town were shown to have missed an equally-shocking 6,000 half-days of schooling due to truancy over the same four-month period – way above the Essex average.

The figures were released by Essex County Council (ECC) this week as the authority vowed to crack down further on truants in the town.

Stephen Castle, cabinet member for education at ECC, said: "I find it staggering that pupils are still willing to jeopardise their future by missing school.

"We will continue to tackle truancy in Harlow in close partnership with families, schools and partner agencies, such as the police.

"To tackle truancy long term, our Education Welfare Service (EWS) is undertaking a number of projects in conjunction with locality Education Welfare Officers who work with families to address reasons for non attendance. They work with educational psychologists, behaviour and attendance partners, Harlow Education Consortium and School Improvement."

A total of 1.14 per cent of all secondary school sessions were missed due to unauthorised absence across Harlow from September-December last year, equating to 8,063 half-days missed. The figure is below the Essex average of 1.20 per cent.

Meanwhile, 0.74 per cent of primary school sessions in the town were missed for no good reason during the same period equating to 6,046 half days. The Essex average is just 0.49 per cent.

Essex County Council said it is too early to tell if the figures will see the overall truancy rates for Harlow improve this academic year – the last two years have shown pupils in the town to be among the worst truancy offenders in the county.

However, Mr Castle added that a short campaign run over the spring term targeting persistent absentees across the town resulted in some parents receiving penalty notices or being prosecuted which had resulted in a significant reduction in unauthorised absences.

WINNER: Proud Daria with her certificate

Daria wins new wheels in prize draw

KEEN cyclist Daria Farrow was wheel-y pleased after scooping a new bike in a prize draw.

Daria (10) of Manor Road, Old Harlow, was picked out of hundreds of entries to win a £100 voucher to buy her new wheels on Thursday.

The draw marked the end of National Bike Week, which had been celebrated in Harlow with a number of successful events.

Attwaters, the local firm of solicitors, sponsored the main competition prize, which will be chosen by Daria from Cycle King in Sawbridgeworth.

Sheenagh Parsons, the firm's managing partner, said: "Harlow Bike Week is a great idea and we're delighted to have supported it. Many congratulations to Daria."

Town's fury over Rammell claims

SIR, SO Bill Rammell was ordered to designate his family home where he spends most of his time as a second home

Having been one of Tony's staunch supporters, he switched seamlessly to maintain his privileged slot at the trough when the present wretched apology for Chancellor cum Prime Minister took office.

Faced with the near certainty of an election recently and the end of the gravy train, Bill stuck his tongue in his cheek and said - with a reminder from Mr Mandelson that swill would dry up if the PM got the bullet - Gordie is the best man to get us out of the mess (which he put us in).

It could be argued that we, the electorate, were stupid enough to vote BR into Parliament, but really very, very few of us are stupid enough to believe his protestations of innocence or his sudden attack of conscience AFTER the whistle was blown on the scam that was permitted by THE RULES.

Is it really all right to use 'rules' to justify what the rest of us would get put in jail for?

But what else could we expect from a Government that rates speeding as a worse crime than burglary and treats old people with utter contempt

Oh my! How pensioners would love to have a hundred quid a week for just food, never mind another hundred for "second home" mortgage interest. And of course, the council tax and furniture and path repairs and, and, and, and, ad nauseum.

Just go out among your constituents and listen to what they are calling you, Bill.

Mike Audritt
Hobbs Cross Road, Harlow

SIR, I WRITE to you with reference to the recent controversy over MP expenses and in particular, the claims that have been made by our very own Labour MP, Bill Rammell.

In such hard economic times for the majority of us, it is interesting to see some of the claims that Bill Rammell has made on top of his £104,050 per year salary. To put this salary into context, that is in excess of £5,500 per month after deductions entering his bank account.

It therefore leaves me astounded to see that his junior secretary is his wife, who is employed at a salary in the region of £40,000 per year by Mr Rammell.

I would be interested to see how Mr Rammell can justify employing close members of his family on such a generous salary when most of his constituents can only dream of such a salary.

It is worth noting at this point, that of the several items that I have had occasion to write to Mr Rammell about over recent years, I have only ever had one response from him, suggesting that his secretary is either not very efficient or he chooses to ignore his constituents' views.

As well as his salary, Mr Rammell's expenses for 2007/2008 were a staggering £144,340. These expenses, some of which I must add are legitimate items, included the tax-paying British public paying for his council tax, TV licence and also paying £50 a month for newspapers. It is shocking that he claims £50 a month for newspapers, when there are copies of all newspapers supplied in the House of Commons free of charge to members.

As Mr Rammell is so fond of his open surgeries, which again he claims for, perhaps he would like to arrange an open surgery where he can discuss his extravagant expenses claims with his constituents and provide some justification for his lavish lifestyle at the public's expense?

Perhaps it is about time that Mr Rammell got off of his moral high horse about other MP's expenses and started to consider his own expenses claims ensuring that they are appropriate.

If Mr Rammell is so intent on making a difference for his constituents, perhaps he could also use his justified expenses to use the services of local businesses and people, thus providing much-needed jobs and breeding life back into the local community instead of lining his own pockets!

Hazel Beckers
Ash Tree Field
Harlow

SIR, THERE have been several opportunities in the Houses of Parliament for MPs to vote for a

MP responds to criticism over expenses row

SIR, My expenses as an MP have been published for 2004/5 to 2007/8. I wish this had happened sooner. The resistance by the House of Commons to the publication of expense claims has increased public mistrust and cynicism.

As my receipts show, in terms of my claims under the Second Home Allowance, the Commons authorities required me to designate my Harlow home as my second home for claims when I became a Minister and my claims enable me to have a home in Harlow and a flat in London. I have always claimed within the rules and I am in the bottom 25 per cent of claimants.

But I have come to realise this is not enough. Since 2008, I have claimed only mortgage interest from the Second Homes Allowance and stopped claiming completely in February this year. I will not make any claims in the future and I wish I had reached this decision sooner. The current system is utterly discredited and the public have no confidence in it. I and all MPs should have reformed the system years ago. I regret the fact that we did not.

I never went into politics to make money, it's not what drives me to work the hours I do for Harlow and its people. I regret hugely that the expense system has led some people to conclude that money is what motivates MPs.

As to the system as a whole, we need fundamental root and branch reform and I am strongly supporting this. All MPs also need to recognise that the public anger over expenses represents something deeper about the electorate's mistrust of politicians of all parties. I'm determined to respond to that.

And we have to avoid partisan point-scoring between political parties. All MPs from all parties have been damaged by the expenses scandal. We all have to work to restore trust.

Bill Rammell MP

change in the expenses procedure, but they have voted to keep the status quo.

If Bill Rammell thought it was a flawed and discredited system, why didn't he speak out before now?

An MP's first home must surely be where his wife and children live. Can I claim all the expenses I read about in last week's Star? In a few years, I'd have a nice big bank account!

Joan Swanton
Willowfield, Harlow

SIR, IN response to the story of Bill Rammell's expenses on the front page of last week's Star.

On one side of the page, you have a story of hundreds of people selflessly giving up their time and effort to raise money for the needy on the Midnight Walk. On the other side of the page is a well-paid politician who is simply greedy.

I am bitterly disappointed that the Star missed an opportunity to put some hard questions to the MP instead of allowing him to hide behind the mantra "it is within the rules".

The outrage felt by the nation has nothing to do with the rules, but the lack of morals and ethics demonstrated by our representatives. Our MPs have forgotten that they are servants of the people and seem happy to become an overhead instead.

I would like to challenge Mr Rammell to meet me on local radio to answer the following questions:

People who are unemployed, destitute or impoverished through some unforeseen calamity have every right to claim that they need £400 a month for food. I would like Mr Rammell to explain why someone who earns £104,000 (plus expenses) a year is happy to claim that he needs £400 a month for food.

Most people who wish to refurbish or simply decorate their home but do not have the money, take out a loan. I would like Mr Rammell to explain why someone who earns £104,000 a year (plus expenses) does not feel morally challenged in claiming the expense from the people he represents.

As a large number of Harlow residents know, the daily commute into London can be tiresome, but it is part of a choice they made when pursuing a career in London. If you want to earn the money, it is acknowledged that some effort and discomfort has to be endured.

I would like Mr Rammell to explain why he felt the need to purchase a flat in London - allowing him to claim expenses on his 'second home' - to avoid a commute of 30 minutes which he does not even do daily. After all, I am sure that he can afford to travel first class, as he earns £104,000 a year (plus expenses).

Finally, I would like ask Mr Rammell why he feels happy to continuously repeat the mantra "it's within the rules" when surely, by now, he must understand that it is not the rules that are fault but the morals and ethics of our MPs that are sadly missing. How any MP can sleep at night after knowingly abusing the public trust on a monthly basis is beyond me.

Of course, up to recently, they probably comforted themselves with the phrase "well, they'll never find out...."

Ray Morley, by email

SIR, BILL Rammell claims money from expenses for repair work and to have lights fitted at a property in Harlow. This has no connection with Parliamentary duties and should have been paid for by him.

In my opinion, this is theft and should be dealt with by the law of this country. Had he not been caught out, he would no doubt be claiming for the complete renovation of the entire property

L.E. King
Church Leys, Harlow

SIR, FURTHER to your revelations about Bill Rammell's expenses, I have been going through his account of how much he has claimed. Remember, these are his accounts which he signed for, not something I plucked out of thin air.

In 2007, he claimed £14,220. In 2008, he claimed £13,346 - all this on top of his huge salary. In 2005, he claimed for 1,000 Christmas cards. What he claimed for was blacked out, as were many other items.

The best one was he claimed for a packet of envelopes and a paper clip - this was also blacked out. He has also been claiming for his daily newspaper and his TV licence. As I said, these are his figures, not mine

I am an 85-year-old OAP and during the war, served as a DEMS Gunner on board the merchant ships on the Russian and Atlantic convoys, also in the Pacific.

I hope I helped my country, but it seems as if the only help Rammell and his like have given is to help to bleed it dry.

By the way, did anyone receive a Christmas card from him? I certainly didn't.

Ron Kerridge, by email

Help us bin the bins Day ruined by yobs

SIR, A NATIONAL newspaper has started a campaign against communities being forced to accept wheelie bins by over-officious councillors and council officers.

It has printed photos of towns all over England where wheelie bins are engulfing our streets, yet we in Harlow are being forced into having these monstrosities outside our houses from September.

In my capacity as chairman of the Harlow Pensioners Action Association, I have been at meetings with the council because I believe the great majority of pensioners in the town will have problems trying to push these monsters to the kerb.

I have been told that anybody who is disabled or has a serious illness will, if they apply to the council, receive help - but what about the thousands of pensioners who are not considered to be either of the above yet are too frail to push these bins about?

There has been numerous occasions when strong and healthy waste collection operatives have refused to move wheelie bins because they were too heavy and it would be against health and safety regulations.

Yet councillors on the environment committee and officers of the waste management team seem to think it is OK for elderly people to push these bins all over the place, regardless of health and safety regulations. It makes you wonder if they live on the same planet as the rest of us.

The national newspaper has asked people to write to their local authorities if they are against wheelie bins. Whether that will help in Harlow I don't know, as they ignored a petition that thousands of people signed early in the year.

Maybe the Star will take up the cudgel on behalf of the elderly in Harlow.

Les Coben

SIR, I AM one of those that have sent the Daily Mail coupon to Malcolm Morley and I would like to make the following point.

I object to the Wheelie Bin scheme for two simple reasons:

(a) The cost. I don't know how many householders there are in Harlow, but assuming you are getting these bins at a knockdown price (which I doubt), to supply every household with two bins and two caddies just doesn't make any sort of sense, but then you are not spending your own money are you?

The money comes out of my pocket, either in the form of tax taken by the Government and paid to you as a supplement, or more directly by taking money out of the rates. Either way, I lose.

(b) Where in the hell do you think we are going to store two wheelie bins?

I live on The Hornbeams, our front gardens are like postage stamps. There isn't the room to move a bin through the house, so we are left with eyesores, with every house having two bins permanently dumped outside, to be vandalised, stolen and God knows what else.

Some of the photographs I have seen of rows of bins cluttering pavements and gardens are disgusting.

I bet all you councillors have arranged that you won't have to have these things dumped out side your houses.

J. Wilson
The Hornbeams, Harlow

Day ruined by yobs

SIR, ON my return from a pleasant day out I was confronted by the sight and sound of local children deliberately kicking a football against my windows and doors.

When I remonstrated in the strongest terms possible, one of their mothers came out and verbally abused me for telling her children off. When she told her son to stop winding me up, he then started swearing at her.

These children were playing football in a 'no ball games' area, as they do every day. The Town Park is 10 minutes away.

Whatever happened to the days when parents took their kids to the park so that they were not a nuisance to their neighbours?

Carol Hyde
Harlow (full address supplied)

Bring back bobbies

SIR, GOOD on you John Connolly, I totally agree. Why is this Government paying wages - which I believe to be quite good - to these PCSOs and not putting proper policeman and woman on the streets instead?

I live in Church Langley and on several occasions have seen these plastic plods on the buses riding round the estate and when you are lucky enough to see them on the beat, they are putting their make-up on or combing their hair or eating and the youngsters know that they haven't any power.

By the time back-up arrives, the youths have vanished - so really, what use are they? Bring back the bobby on the beat and do away with the Plastic Plods

Amazing tale of a rescue dog

A RESCUE dog which helped to find survivors trapped in the wreckage of the World Trade Center has been cloned five times.

Sadly, former police dog Trakr passed away earlier this year but his owner, James Symington, hopes the five cloned puppies – identical replicas of Trakr – created by scientists using his beloved dog's genes will carry on the good work. Sharing the same genetic makeup as Trakr, the new pups have been named Trustt, Valor, Prodigy, Solace, and De Ja Vu. Mr Symington, pictured left with Trakr, won an essay contest in which he had to say why he believed Trakr was worth cloning.

The cloning process was carried out by Californian firm BioArts International, the only company in the world allowed to clone cats and dogs.

Mr Symington, a former police officer, said: "If the puppies have the same attributes Trakr did, then hopefully they'll develop into world class search and rescue dogs."

Mr Symington and Trakr arrived at the site of the World Trade Center on September 12, 2001 – the day after the buildings collapsed following a terrorist attack. They were one of the first canine search and rescue teams on the scene. After working almost non-stop for 48 hours, Trakr located the last remaining survivor in the rubble of the twin towers. "Trakr was an extraordinary search and rescue dog," said Mr Symington. "His work at the World Trade Center was the culmination of his career."

Opportunities for buyers increase as mortgage approvals rise

With figures showing a steady rise in the number of mortgage approvals from the UK's major banks over the last six months, local estate agency haart advises that now is an ideal time for buyers to capitalise on lower house prices.

Statistics from the British Banker's Association (BBA) show the number of approvals for house purchases rose to 31,162 in May, up 15.8% on the same time last year.

haart in Harlow suggests that with rising demand for rented accommodation and increasing competitiveness within the lettings market, exiting that market to become a homeowner has become even more appealing.

Shawn Meakins, Senior Branch Partner said: "The rising number of mortgage approvals are a strong signal of future activity in the housing market.

"This is a good sign for everyone, but particularly for first-time buyers who have been negotiating the poor market conditions for months, trying to get a foot on the first rung of the ladder."

Recent research by the Chartered Institute of Housing (CIH) has shown that some 70% of young people still believe homeownership is a good long term investment and that owning their own home would be the ideal living situation.

Paul Smith, the Chief Executive of haart – which is part of Britain's largest independent estate agency group – added: "Ownership brings security and for this reason, will always be sought after. The increase in mortgage approvals will give a much-needed boost to the property market and will show buyers that despite the downturn, they are able to buy and lenders are willing to lend.

"Now is the perfect time to take advantage of low property prices and invest in your future."

Plane written off after crash landing at North Weald

FIREFIGHTERS were called to North Weald airfield on Saturday after aircraft got into difficulty while landing. The single engine display plane collapsed on its undercarriage after touching down, causing thousands of pounds worth of damage.

Nobody was injured in the incident, which was attended by crews from Harlow, Epping and Ongar.

Firefighter Kevin Smith said: "The aircraft was making a normal landing and after it had touched down the right-hand side of the undercarriage collapsed followed shortly by the left-hand side. The aircraft then skidded on the runway."

He added: "The pilot was uninjured, but his aircraft suffered damage to undercarriage and exhaust system and the engine was written off. The pilot said there was probably £15,000 worth of damage."

Crews checked no flammable liquid was leaking from the aircraft and made the area safe with help from a pilot.

Witnesses are sought after office break-in POLICE are appealing for witnesses following a break-in at an office block in Harlow.

Officers were called to Joseph Rank House in Haydens Road at about 8.40am on Thursday after reports of a burglary.

A glass door to the building had been smashed but officers say nothing appeared to have been stolen from inside.

It is thought the damage occurred some time between last Monday and the day of the report.

Anyone with information is asked to call Harlow Police on 0300 333 4444.

Man facing jail for attack at bus station

A MAN who admitted wounding another man at Harlow bus station has been told he faces jail after appearing in court.

Zac Atwell (22), of Brays Mead, Harlow, pleaded guilty to the attack on January 15 this year at a previous hearing.

But at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday, Judge Christopher Ball QC ordered reports to be carried out in order for him to be able to decide whether Atwell should receive an indeterminate sentence with a minimum jail term or a fixed sentence with an extended licence period.

Atwell was remanded in custody until July 20.

Council hopes to continue street marshal scheme

A PILOT scheme to help reduce anti-social behaviour in Harlow town centre could be rolled out on a permanent basis.

Harlow Council is looking to secure more funding for its Street Marshal service following a successful three-month trial period.

Since March, two people have been employed to patrol Harlow's town centre on weekend evenings to provide additional assistance to police patrols and the existing Taxi Marshal scheme.

During their time on the streets the workers, who were trained by the ambulance service and funded by the government, dealt with a host of incidents including helping police with a man threatening to commit suicide, dealing with drunks, providing first aid to 14 people, enforcing alcohol bans in "no alcohol" areas and removing glass and bottles from the street.

The idea was introduced following partnership working with the East of England Ambulance Service, which was designed to free up resources and reduce trouble in the town.

Tony Hall, chairman of the council's environment and community committee, said the funding finished at the end of last month adding: "The scheme has proved very successful and members of the public have reacted positively."

"We will be working hard to try and find other sources that will enable this important service to continue."

"It is helping to reduce anti-social behaviour in Harlow at times when there is the highest risk."

Speaking of the scheme's benefits, Jon Moore, the East of England Ambulance Service's general manager for west Essex, added: "In some cases, they may even help prevent the need for an ambulance response, freeing up our resources to attend more serious incidents."

Man threatened to 'slash' police officer

A MAN who barricaded himself in a house in Harlow during a one-and-a-half-hour stand-off with police must wait to hear his fate after a judge ordered psychiatric reports.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard Harry Baker (23), had threatened to "batter" and "slash" police on May 14 this year while he was at a house in Little Grove Field.

A specialist negotiator and taser unit was deployed after police heard he had access to knives and a snooker cue.

Baker – described as having an adult form of hypertension attention deficit disorder (HADD) – pleaded guilty to affray and possessing a kitchen knife as an offensive weapon at a previous hearing.

At court on Friday, Carolyn Gardiner, prosecuting, said police were called at 7.30pm to the home Baker shared with his girlfriend and eight-month-old daughter in Little Grove Field after reports a man had barricaded himself in.

There was a stand-off and at one point he was spotted picking up a knife from the work surface and a 3ft long pole before shouting at officers: "If you come in I'm ready, I'll slash you all up".

After 90 minutes of negotiations, he came out and was arrested, said Miss Gardiner.

She said he then told police he would not have done anything with the knife and that he had been drinking on top of his medication.

Neil Fitzgibbon, for Baker in mitigation, said his client was on the drug Ritalin from age of 12-16, but had since been left to his own devices.

He said Baker was in "a mood" when he got home from work that day and told his sister over the phone to call police because he didn't feel well.

He said Baker had not detained his girlfriend inside the house and their relationship was still good, adding that Baker has a close, supportive family.

"They don't look upon him as an evil monster, but a young man who didn't get the help he required and now knows he needs," he said.

The sentencing hearing is due to take place in August.

Alarm bells are ringing!

SHOPPERS have been handed free purse bells to deter pickpockets.

Police and community support officers dished out the freebies on Friday after recent figures showed incidents were on the rise.

In March, 13 purses or wallets were reported stolen from people as they walked around the town. But the figure rose to 18 reported incidents in May.

As well as the bells, shoppers were given advice as to how to keep their belongings safe, such as never leaving handbags out of sight, avoiding carrying large amounts of cash and making sure bag is securely fastened at all times.

DING DONG: PCSO Chris Maynard hands out cat bells to Brenda Raine and Doris Rawlings, both 72, to try and cut down on pickpocket thefts

(photos: PV4DMG9L-03/04)

Trials are so baa-d!

IT might not be everyone's idea of a Sunday lunch, but four charitable souls at a Harlow care home's fete insisted on swapping meat and spuds for some truly nauseating grub, including lamb's testicles!

The brave fundraisers were taking in part in a series of sponsored bush-tucker trials in a bid to raise money for the elderly residents of Ashlyn Care Centre in Vicarage Wood.

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@c@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The stomach-churning spectacle was just one of a number of fun activities laid on for the public at the home's annual summer fete, which benefited from glorious sunshine on one of the hottest days of the year.

The money raised on the day was still being totted up as the Star went to press, but all of it will go towards providing engaging activities and treats for the care home's residents throughout the year.

Summer showcase for students' art

HARLOW COLLEGE: Lecture rooms were transformed into art galleries when visual arts students staged their annual summer show.

The exhibition featured an eclectic mix of work including paintings, sculpture, graphic design, print, fashion and textiles.

College principal Colin Hindmarch said: "It's wonderful to see the energy and commitment of our students."

"We're building strong links with businesses and the design industry and these links afford our students valuable opportunities to work to real-life briefs, expanding their experience and putting them one step in front of the competition when applying for jobs or going onto higher education."

● NATIONAL diploma fashion and design students swapped theory for the glamour of the catwalk when 55 individual pieces made by the budding designers were showcased.

Fashion student Shelley Gibbs said: "We had the freedom to design what we wanted and then chose a style of fabric which complemented our design."

"I enjoyed making the garment and was thrilled when I saw it on stage."

Proceeds from the show were donated to the British Heart Foundation.

SPINNEY PRE-SCHOOL: Toddlers put their best foot forward to raise cash for children's charity Barnardo's in a sponsored toddle.

So far more than £300 has been collected but it is hoped that, once all the money is in, the total will top £400.

Nursery manager Guilia Pollard said: "It was a great day and they all had a really good time."

"We set out an assault course which they had to complete five times, but to be honest some of them just kept going and going. It all went really well."

Positive reaction to chemistry camp

BURNT MILL: Year 10 students Jennie Pritchard and Katie Jack are representing the school at chemistry camps.

The girls were given the opportunity to attend the camps at St Andrew's University in Scotland and Leeds University respectively after being successful in applying to the Royal Society of Chemistry for the Salter's Chemistry Camp.

Jennie, who has already attended the camp, said: "St Andrew's is an amazing place and the people I met were so friendly. I was very sad when I had to leave and get the train back home."

"Science is sometimes perceived as a boring subject by some people, but I'd challenge anyone to think this if they'd been on this incredible trip!"

Katie will be attending her camp at Leeds later this month. (s)

Pupils put their art into tours

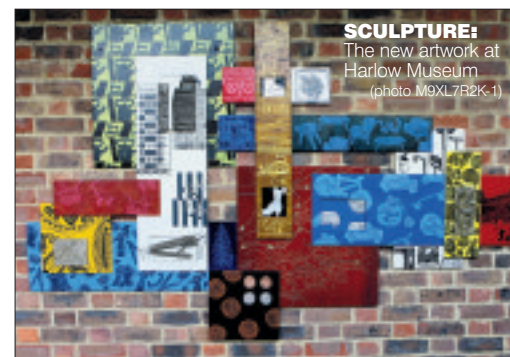

VISITORS to the Museum of Harlow on Saturday were treated to informative guided tours of the exhibits conducted by students from schools across the town.

The 16 young tour guides had spent the last month planning, researching and practising before taking visitors on informative tours of the museum collections.

The students – from Mark Hall, Burnt Mill, The Spinney Junior, Fawbert & Barnards Primary, The Downs Primary and Tany's Dell Primary – were also among the first to get a glimpse of a new sculpture by local artist co-operative Creative Space, which was inspired by objects on display in the museum.

Chairman of Harlow Council's environment and community committee, Tony Hall, said: "This is always a highly enjoyable project. The children gain in confidence over the weeks of their planning and it is great to see how they deliver their museum tours with genuine enthusiasm about the history of the town."

Don't call 999 for cut fingers

A CUT finger, a migraine and an upset stomach are just some of the 999 calls made to ambulance crews from people living in Harlow.

Emergency services were also phoned after a person complained of being in pain after falling over the day before.

The calls were made from homes around the town in the last month and were revealed by the East of England ambulance service this week as it calls on the public not to abuse the 999 number.

The message comes amid warm weather which the service says traditionally creates an increase in emergency calls.

Steve Brant, assistant general manager for Harlow at the East of England Ambulance Service, said: "Traditionally the ambulance service sees a higher number of 999 calls over weekends in the summer period when the weather is good, which puts the ambulance service under additional pressure.

"We want people to ensure they're being safe, so that they don't require treatment in the first place, but should they find themselves in a situation where

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

they need medical attention, they should consider whether it's an emergency or not.

"People with minor illness or complaints should consider calling NHS Direct (0845 4647), their own GP surgery or visiting a local walk-in centre or local pharmacy.

"They should also consider whether they can get alternative transport to their local accident and emergency department if they need to attend."

Examples given by EEAS of minor ailments which could be dealt with by alternative NHS services are: coughs, colds, sore throat and earache, minor cuts, bruises and wounds, muscle and joint injuries – strains and sprains – skin complaints and toothache

Mr Brant added: "However, patients must ring 999 if the situation is life-threatening or serious, such as: complaining of chest pains, unconscious or fitting, losing a lot of blood, having a suspected stroke, suffering from a deep wound or head injury or difficulty in breathing."

Not such a beautiful noise

NEARLY 700 noise complaints were received by Harlow Council in just one year making the district the second noisiest place to live in the county.

Figures obtained under the Freedom of Information Act show 682 reports of excess noise from private residences were made to the authority in the past 12 months, resulting in just one Anti-social Behaviour Order being handed out.

The research from insulation firm Rockwool shows Epping Forest District to be the noisiest, with nearly 1,000 complaints while the borough of Castle Point was the quietest in Essex.

How your waste collection will change from September

Over the coming months there will be changes to the way that we collect household waste from most homes in the town.

Every year around three quarters of household waste in Harlow is thrown away. Much of this is preventable or recyclable. Not only is it damaging to the planet but it is costly too. The impact will be noticeable within this generation's lifetime. Children born within the last ten years will see dramatic changes as scientists anticipate higher temperatures leading to increased droughts and floods in the UK towards the end of the century. The effect on countries with more variable climates will be even more extreme.

Last year we started to look at new ways of making sure that as much rubbish as possible is recycled whilst keeping costs low. After a year of work by officers and Councillors from all parties, and having considered 14 different collection methods, we invited bids from 8 contractors to show how they could deliver a new service.

This spring we awarded the contract to Veolia. Implementation of the new system will begin in the town from September 2009. Not all homes will start the arrangements at the same time. The start dates will be phased over approximately three months.

and all affected households will be contacted to let them know when to expect their new collections.

Which households will change?

Houses and low rise properties will change. Refuse and recycling for most flats (those with communal waste bins) will continue to be collected in the usual way.

What will the change involve?

Those households that will be part of the new arrangements will have:

- A weekly food waste collection – two special containers will be supplied – one small internal caddy, and one external one about the size of a bucket.
- Fortnightly collections of recyclable waste such as paper, glass and cans. A large wheelie bin will be supplied for these items.
- Fortnightly collections of non-recyclable items. A smaller wheelie bin will be supplied for these items.

Please note, the recyclable and non-recyclable items will be collected on separate weeks. This means that we will not collect both bins in the same week. Your food waste will always be collected weekly.

Won't the bins look unsightly?

Many households will be able to store the bins without much impact but we realise that some residents don't like the appearance of bins. As part of the property survey reviews that we are carrying out, we will be looking to see whether it is possible for residents to put out their bins at the rear of properties from where we can collect them if it is operationally viable. This will enable people to store them in rear gardens and sheds. More information about this will be available when the survey is complete.

What happens if I can't manage the bins?

At present residents have to lift heavy sacks and for many it will be easier to manage a wheeled bin. However we realise that some people will have genuine difficulty manoeuvring bins. If you think this is the case for you please contact us and we will see what we can do to help. Call 01279 446655.

I don't want to change, isn't there an alternative?

Councils have to meet tough Government and EU targets on the amount of waste that they collect. In future there will be fines for councils that send too much rubbish to landfill. To put this in context, the Government target is for residents to recycle 40% of all waste. In Harlow, just 24% is collected by residents – this is way short of what will be needed and we cannot meet the high targets with our current system. There is a real concern that if we fail to meet targets the fines could run to millions of pounds across the county which could impact on council tax.

Why can't we continue to use sacks?

The bins will give more capacity to collect recyclables. There are advantages and disadvantages to all methods of waste collection. There are a number of problems with bags including lack of capacity and that they can attract vermin. Residents experience problems with animals breaking open bags that are left out for collection and littering where people do not secure the bags properly. We would also need to consider the impact on the environment of the disposal of so many plastic sacks (approximately 54,000 per fortnight for residual waste alone).

Will there be microchips to check how much I throw away?

No, none of the bins that Harlow Council has ordered will be microchipped. The bins are manufactured automatically with a serial number. This will relate to the individual property, but does not enable your waste to be weighed.

Won't this be more expensive?

All waste collection and waste disposal methods are expensive. Landfill tax is increasing. All methods involve vehicles, labour and receptacles for collection, either disposable ones such as sacks (that often end up in landfill) or permanent items such as wheelie bins.

I've seen national newspaper coverage about the problems with fortnightly collections. How will this work in Harlow?

We want to stress very clearly that food waste will be collected weekly. It is only "dry" items that will be collected on a fortnightly basis. The majority of worries that have been highlighted by residents in other areas concern food waste smells and an increase in vermin because of lingering food waste. Using bins instead of refuse sacks, should reduce the attraction to vermin, and also reduce littering.

Sparkler of a day for Frank and May

DIAMOND DAY: Frank and May Lee celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary

(photo: VQ9J2BYG-04)

HAPPILY married Frank and May Lee will be celebrating their long-lasting love on Saturday when they reach a landmark 60 years wed.

The couple, who live in Dovehouse Croft, Harlow, met when May (now 81) was a waitress and Frank (now 82) was on leave from the Merchant Navy.

The two had been together for 18 months before Frank proposed to May in the restaurant she worked in.

They have five children together – Kathleen, John, Frances, Rita and Peter – who they will be sharing their special anniversary celebrations with. The two are going to mark the occasion with a party with friends and family.

Mrs Lee said: "He took a chance when he asked me and of course the answer was yes."

Speaking of the secret of a long-lasting marriage, Mr Lee said: "We trust each other, without that you can't have anything really."

Mrs Lee added: "It's all about compromise."

£350,000 playground plans get go-ahead

PLANS to build a new children's playground in Prentice Place are set to swing into action after developers were given the go ahead to start work on the £354,000 project.

Incorporating a mix of fun and colourful equipment for toddlers, more challenging items for older children and a multi-use games area for football and basketball, the new facilities will be built on the Larkwood site and replace the existing play area at Carters Mead.

Work on the project will start later this year and will be supported by money from the Government's Growth Area Fund. Consultation with local residents and community groups will continue over the summer to help determine the final details of the playground.

The plans were green-lit at Thursday's meeting of the policy and resources committee and chairman Simon Carter told the Star: "The playground will appeal to a wide age range and provide much-needed leisure facilities for the area.

"I'm delighted for the residents and young people of Potter Street that the work will be getting underway later this year.

"The approval of the contract is also significant because it marks a major step forward in the Growth Area Fund projects.

He added: "The former playground site at Carters Mead will be freed up for housing, which is only part of the bigger scheme for regenerating Prentice Place."

Man is treated for head injury after attack outside pub

A MAN is being treated for severe head injuries after allegedly being beaten up outside a Harlow pub.

Police were called to The Shark in Hodings Road, at 2am on Tuesday after reports of a disturbance.

They arrived to find a man in his 50s or 60s had been savagely attacked. He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for treatment, but has since been transferred to Queen's hospital in Romford, which specialises in head injuries.

A police cordon was in place around the pub on Tuesday as forensics teams searched the area for evidence.

A 62-year-old man has since been arrested on suspicion of GBH and drugs offences.

Anyone with information is asked to call Harlow police on 0300 333 4444.

Heroes take cover on a night of mixed emotions

REVIEW

THE HOT RATS/EAT THE PARTY/THE CARPENTER'S SON
The Square, Harlow

FIRST up, dear readers, a confession. I'm a little vexed with myself, partly for supping far too much ale for a Wednesday night, but mostly because I was reeled in hook, line and sinker by The Hot Rats' wily simian charms.

Why should this make me angry? I witnessed a storming set performed by two of my boyhood heroes (Gaz Coombes and Danny Goffey of Supergrass fame, no less), enjoyed several pints and even had a little dance. What's there to moan about?

Let me explain. Although I was fully aware the 'Rats would be performing a set consisting exclusively of covers of their favourite songs, I couldn't help but feel a little cheated.

Here we have two enormously talented chaps with an embarrassingly rich back catalogue of hits that helped sculpt,

COVERED UP:
The Hot Rats

define and soundtrack a generation, but they're playing someone else's songs.

Don't get me wrong; I sang along and feverishly greeted the familiar opening bars of Gang Of Four's Damaged Goods and The Doors' Crystal Ship like old friends I thought I'd never see again, but somewhere at the back of my mind the curmudgeonly cynic in me crowed: "If this wasn't Gaz and Danny from Supergrass, would you really have bothered?"

The answer is probably yes because I got in for free anyway, but that's not really the point. Admittedly they do a rather dainty job of covering other people's song, but it's frustratingly lacking in the knowing cheek, charisma and eccentricity they've built their careers upon.

In fact, it's not really all that different to turning up at your local to be entertained by a couple of skilful session musicians, only without the beards and beer-bellies.

Support act Eat The Party, however, more than made up for any pangs of selfish disappointment. I must confess to knowing next to absolutely nothing about this band of elegantly dishevelled electro-punks, but I'll wager we'll all be getting to know them much better in the very near future.

A vaudevillian fusion of Cramps-esque psychobilly, Pat Benatar powerchords and inspired haircuts fronted by a sultry young songstress with a taste for burlesque, their virtuosic performance was a visceral thrill-ride through a deliciously dark hinterland of sex, death and sequinned dresses.

Not quite as thrilling, but nevertheless promising, was the stripped back acoustic styling of Oliver Carter, AKA The Carpenter's Son, who opened the evening with a hit and miss set of fairly straightforward singer/songwriter fare. But like the sensitive soul who turns up at the riotous house party with his acoustic guitar, he seemed a little detached from an audience salivating over the prospect of seeing their Britpop heroes, making it difficult to fully appreciate the hand-wringing profundity of his heart-on-sleeve laments.

One year on and it's time for a Square celebration

TAKE a legendary pub-rock band, add a young rock'n'rolla on the cusp of superstardom and blend with some impossibly young and talented bubblegum punks and, voila, you have all the ingredients for a rollicking first anniversary showcase gig befitting of Harlow's premier music venue.

On Saturday it will have been a whole year since The Square shook off the shackles of county council control to welcome back the patronage of the hundreds of music fans young and old who consider it a second home – and what a year it has been.

The venue reopened with a bang courtesy of a fittingly garrulous set from Wilko Johnson and has since played host to punk pioneers Steve Diggle (ex-Buzzcocks), The Damned and UK Subs, indie big-hitters The Subways, Little Man Tate, La Roux and The Hot Rats, cheeky cockneys Chas'n'Dave and even some stunning skabillly courtesy of The Specials' very own Roddy Radiation.

As if that wasn't impressive enough, capping off a glorious year on Saturday will be pub-rock legends Eddie & The Hot Rods, Subways frontman Billy Lunn and Banshees-baiting tykes Bite.

Most provincial venues of a similar size could only dream of attracting the kind of legendary acts The Square has consistently put on, but then The Square isn't like most venues.

Chilly reception for the subterranean critters

still showing

YEAR ONE: Harold Ramis's ramshackle road movie through the Paleolithic era fails to raise a single decent laugh despite being headlined by Jack Black and Michael Cera, two of the most gifted comic actors of their generations. The incompetent duo are banished from their caveman tribe and embark on a quest of self-discovery through an ancient world riddled with danger.

TRANSFORMERS-REVENGE OF THE FALLEN: The robots in disguise continue their age-old feud in the eagerly-awaited sequel to one of the biggest box office hits of 2007. It pushes the visual effects envelope with more outrageous slam-bang thrills and skirmishes between the noble Autobots and their sworn enemies, the Decepticons.

NIGHT AT THE MUSEUM 2: Ben Stiller and Ricky Gervais return in the sequel to the 2006 family blockbuster. This time the story switches to the largest museum complex in the world, the Smithsonian Institute in Washington DC, where revived pharaoh Kahmunrah aims to take over the world.

THE HANGOVER: Three best men misplace the groom during an alcohol-fuelled stag weekend in Las Vegas. The gags predominantly miss rather than hit, but the rapport between the leads ensures at least one or two belly laughs.

kids club

ENCHANTED: The beautiful princess Giselle is banished by an evil queen from her magical, musical animated land and finds herself on the streets of modern-day Manhattan. She is adrift in a chaotic world in need of enchantment. But when Giselle begins to fall in love with a charming divorce lawyer – even though she is already promised to a perfect fairytale prince back home – she wonders if her storybook romance will survive in the real world?

BOLT: A small white dog named Bolt who, having spent his entire life on the set of a television series, thinks that he has super powers. When he believes that his human, Penny, has been kidnapped, he sets out on a rescue mission.

ICE AGE 3: DAWN OF THE DINOSAURS (3D)
certificate U 1h34m

DINOSAURS ruled the Earth for more than 100 million years, but the third instalment of the computer-animated Ice Age series will struggle to reign at the UK box office for more than two weeks.

The colourful follow-up to Ice Age 2: The Meltdown plunders from Jules Verne's A Journey To The Centre Of The Earth, as the cuddly critters discover an entire eco-system beneath the ice.

Fearsome predators roam this vast, subterranean kingdom, as well as a daredevil weasel, whose gung-ho antics will coax a chuckle from younger viewers.

Ice Age 3 is certainly bright and breezy, but Carlos Saldanha and Mike Thurmeier's film is the weakest adventure so far, lacking inventive visuals or a clever screenplay to appeal simultaneously to adults and children.

Sid the sloth (voiced by John Leguizamo) yearns for a family of his own so he 'appropriates' a nest of dinosaur eggs.

"I'd like to present Egbert, Shelley and Yoko," beams Sid, proudly showing off his surrogate family.

When the young carnivores hatch, their mother roars through the camp, carrying off her brood plus Sid to her nest.

The sloth's friends, Manny the woolly mammoth (Ray Romano) and Diego the sabre-toothed tiger (Denis Leary), embark on a perilous rescue mission. They are accompanied by the love of Manny's life, Ellie (Queen Latifah), who is preparing to give birth to their first mini-mammoth.

Mischievous possum 'brothers' Crash (Seann William Scott) and Eddie (Josh Peck) tag along for the ride.

The arduous quest takes the friends into a mysterious underground world where the flora is almost as deadly as the fauna and a loveable, one-eyed weasel called Buck (Simon Pegg) is on a mission to hunt a dinosaur called Rudy.

Ice Age 3 screens in 3D at selected cinemas around the UK, but – unusually – the eye-popping technology doesn't enhance the viewing experience.

Indeed, visuals look flat for almost the entire 94 minutes, apart from the adrenaline-pumping thrill of a couple of first-person-perspective chase sequences.

The hunt for Public Enemy No1

new this week

PUBLIC ENEMIES
certificate 15 2h20m

DIRECTOR Michael Mann (Heat, The Insider) surveys a volatile period in his country's history in a slow-burning crime thriller based on Bryan Burrough's book Public Enemies: America's Greatest Crime Wave And The Birth Of The FBI, 1933-34.

The film centres on the exploits on charismatic bank robber John Dillinger (Johnny Depp), who becomes a major Depression-era celebrity and a folk hero to the public, outwitting J Edgar Hoover (Billy Crudup) and his fledgling Federal Bureau of Investigation. Hoover labels Dillinger America's first-ever "Public Enemy Number One" and pledges to capture the robber as a demonstration of his department's ability, enlisting tenacious agent Melvin Purvis (Christian Bale) to lead the nationwide hunt.

While Dillinger's gang continues to hit the headlines, especially when the sociopath Baby Face Nelson (Stephen Graham) joins its ranks, the leader makes the fatal mistake of falling in love with Billie Frechette (Marion Cotillard), providing the FBI with an Achilles heel to aim at.

FUN FOR ALL THE FAMILY AT FIFTH AVENUE'S INDEPENDENCE DAY PARTY

PROSPECTIVE BUYERS are invited to come along to Barratt North London's American Independence Day party at its Fifth Avenue development in Harlow on Saturday 4th July from 11am to 4pm. The day promises to be fun-packed for all the family, with a barbeque, balloon modelling and live music.

While the children are entertained, parents will have plenty of time to view the showhomes and discuss the latest phase of three and four-bedroom houses with the sales advisors. These are the first houses to be built at the development for a year and Barratt is offering some great ways to buy at this popular address.

Glyn Hopping, managing director of Barratt North London, says: "Fifth Avenue continues to be one of our most successful developments. More than 150 homes are now occupied and we are continuing to sell two to three properties a week. Through our various purchase options, we've been able to help people onto the property ladder who, in other circumstances, may not have been able to buy their own home. We've also made buying at Fifth Avenue easy for existing homeowners with our Agency Selling Service."

Three-bedroom houses are available through the new Government-backed scheme, HomeBuy Direct, which gives homebuyers the chance to move in to a new home for only 70 per cent of the purchase price. Barratt will match the Government's funding pound for pound in the new venture to provide an equity loan to the homebuyer of up to 30 per cent. The buyer finances the remaining 70 per cent either through a mortgage, a deposit or a combination of the two. There is no interest to pay on the equity stake for the first five years, although a small fee will be charged from year six onwards.

Buyers can redeem the loan in instalments, purchasing up to 100 per cent of the equity after their initial purchase by buying additional equity at the market rate. Alternatively, if they sell their home, the equity loan is repaid by way of a proportionate share of the sale proceeds.

The scheme is open to First Time Buyers, key workers and others who are currently renting. People who have previously owned a home but are now unable to do so – perhaps where relationships have broken down – can also apply. Households eligible to take advantage of the offer will be earning less than £60,000 and would not normally be able to afford to buy a suitable property on the open market.

Existing homeowners who want to move but who are worried about selling their current home can take advantage of Barratt's Agency Selling Service. The housebuilder will organise the sale of your home through an estate agency, arranging all the valuations; there are no estate agent's fees, no chains to worry about and Barratt will even pay for your Home Information Pack (HIP). The whole process is handled for you, so you can get on with life in your brand new home.

Located on a 27-acre site, off Fifth Avenue, near the main A414, the development offers a wide choice of new homes from one and two-bedroom apartments to two, three and four-bedroom houses, along with a range of affordable homes.

Prices start from £250,000 for a three-bedroom house and from £288,000 for a four-bedroom house. Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

BROOKFIELD AVIATION INTERNATIONAL

GENERAL ADMINISTRATOR

- No age restriction
- Stansted Airport
- Salary negotiable

We are Brookfield Aviation International Ltd, the world's largest pilot services provider. Due to current expansion we require a general administrator to be based in the Stansted area on a full time basis.

We require a sound commercial business background, together with a good general capability in the use of the standard computer packages utilised widely, ie: word and excel. The position will be mainly office based and will deal with a wide variety of applications, including personnel topics and electronic documentation.

The previous type/s of application that someone has been involved in will have been generally commercial and the application itself is largely not relevant, however the overall personality and general background is of more importance. Good presentation is essential together with excellent interpersonal skills.

Please send cv to info@brookfieldav.com.

RECOVERY OFFICER (REF: IR)

Flexible job share with existing staff or full time

Salary up to £20,000 pa (pro-rata for less working hours)

You will work within a small, office based team of Recovery Officers responsible for the collection of post summons council tax and business rates. Duties include working to a strict recovery timetable, obtaining liability orders, making and monitoring arrangements, instructing bailiffs, preparing attachments to earnings or benefits. You will also attend the Magistrate's Court in a supporting role. The role will require you to sensitively handle customer enquiries face to face and over the telephone and in writing.

Candidates must be computer literate, with Microsoft Office skills and should be educated to A level or equivalent standard. Knowledge of the Northgate I-word system would be an advantage. You will be a good communicator and have previous experience in a debt recovery environment. Successful applicants will ideally have worked in a similar role and have a working knowledge of relevant legislation and enjoy working to strict deadlines in a performance focused environment.

THE CLOSING DATE FOR THE FOLLOWING POSTS IS FRIDAY, 10 JULY 2009

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT OFFICER (Children & Events) - (REF: IM145N)

Salary from £19,500 pa to £22,500 pa

The council is committed to developing its youth, children, sports and arts services to enhance the cultural and community development offer, contributing to the wider agendas of improving community safety and community cohesion by developing partnership working to provide positive activities for the community.

You will manage and deliver the Borough's Playschemes, Annual Festival of Fireworks and other special events within Leisure. In addition you will take over management of a Lottery funded play programme of free and inclusive outdoor play sessions across the Borough as part of Let's GO play.

The successful candidate should have experience of managing projects/major events (particularly with children and young people). Flexibility is vital as you'll be required to work regularly evenings and weekends and a suitable sports or recreation qualification is essential as is a full driving licence.

The post will be subject to a Criminal Records Bureau check.

SECRETARY/ASSISTANT (REF: 1SA)

Salary up to £13,514 pa (FTE £25,000 pa)

Part time - 20 hours per week

This post offers the opportunity to work at the centre of the Council's activities. The postholder will be part of a team of experienced, skilled staff dealing with a varied workload; including typing reports, letters and other documents, assembling agendas and secretarial/administrative duties. They will also assist senior managers and deputise for the Chief Executive's secretary.

Applicants will be highly proficient users of Microsoft Office software, with fast, accurate keyboard skills and able to type from audio tapes. They must be flexible, with experience in a similar role and be able to work on their own initiative with tact and discretion.

Actual hours can be negotiated to some extent, but flexibility will be required. The starting salary will depend on the skills and experience of the successful candidate.

The benefits package includes a full training and development programme competency or performance related pay, flexible working hours, free leisure centre membership, final salary pension scheme and child care voucher scheme.

Daunting FA Cup draw

THE Hawks will have their work cut out if they are to emulate last year's FA Cup run.

Harlow Town reached the first round proper in 2008-09 before they lost 2-0 at home to Coca-Cola League Two side Macclesfield Town.

The Barrows Farm outfit must get through five rounds before the first round proper arrives and they face a very tough clash at Southern League premier division side Bedford Town in the first qualifying round on September 12.

Bedford can be an intimidating place to play at and this would be a stern examination.

The draw was made at Soho Square yesterday (Wednesday).

Harlow will host either Essex Senior League outfit Clapton or Spartan South Midlands League premier division side Kingsbury London Tigers in the preliminary round on August 29.

The draw for the FA Carlsberg Trophy was also announced yesterday.

It pitted Harlow away to Southern League Division One Midlands side Leighton Town on Saturday October 3.

Should they win, the Hawks then host either Walton Casuals or Whyteleaf in the first round on October 17.

Meanwhile, pre-season training has started in earnest at Barrows Farm.

Nobody has been signed yet, but boss Glen Alzapiedi will hope to take on several new players.

Keeper Richard Hayward, who played under Alzapiedi at Ware, has been present after quitting newly-promoted Ryman premier division side Waltham Abbey. He could replace James Hasell, who left after last season.

Ex-Sawbridgeworth Town midfielder Christian Wheeler, who also had two spells at Harlow under Tommy Cunningham, has also been present at training.

Wheeler was a member of Ryman division one north's squad Aveley last year.

Depleted club finish in style

THERE were several absentees but Harlow Penguins rose to the challenge as they rounded off the Junior Speedo League in style.

Despite including novice swimmers, the Harlow swimming club scored 40 more points than in the previous round with no disqualifications. But they still finished bottom.

The 9-year-old boys relay team of Luke Withers, Filip Kusnir, Xavier Palas-Cuniah and Simon Kolarik came second and third in their relays, knocking seconds off their previous times.

Luke registered an impressive 2nd spot in his 25m individual breaststroke race.

The 9-year-old girls - Erin Fitzpatrick, Emily Poolman, Eloise Mackown, Victoria and Nicola Keane - had a very busy gala.

They had to swim in their own age group and in the 10-year-old age group.

Erin started the team off well by winning her individual 25m freestyle race. This was followed by Emily's 25m breaststroke race victory.

The 10-year-old boys team of Bradley Veitch, Magnus Koskocan, Samuel Kolarik and newcomer Stanley Shinn came second in the freestyle relay and third in the medley relay.

Bradley also performed well in his 50m breaststroke race, coming second.

Bradley joined Luke Sears, Joseph Walker and Mason Arnold in the 11-year-old relays and they came 3rd in both freestyle and medley.

Mason also picked up an excellent second place in the 50m freestyle and Luke knocked seconds off his personal best (PB) in the 50m butterfly.

The 11-year-old girls team were joined by Lauren Stapleton and all swam hard.

Jasmine Hind was second in the 50m freestyle and third in the 50m butterfly.

It was the last Junior Speedo Gala for Penguins' 12-year-old team of Tori Koskocan, Dana Pittman, Kimberley Oakman, Luke Guerrati and Joshua Beach.

Tori and Luke have represented Harlow Penguins in this League for the last four years and once again they did not let the club down.

Luke was third in the 50m butterfly and Tori came second in the 50m backstroke and 3rd in the 50m butterfly.

Sally Mackown, Harlow Penguins' press officer, said: "I would like to thank all the swimmers for their hard effort and competitive spirit."

"This year has been the beginning of something special at Harlow Penguins and with our excellent coach, Carmen Byfield, the future looks promising for swimming in Harlow."

Andy's 1:47 break for spot at Euros

"I had problems on and off up until May. I had to pull out [after GB selection] two years ago. You're always worried you will get injured again. But I kept training hard and there is still a lot left in the tank."

He will be up against top rivals from Germany, Spain and Great Britain in Lithuania, while the favourite is a Polish runner who clocked an astonishing 1min 45secs at the weekend!

Osagie is aiming to break 1:46 now and has not ruled out a medal in Lithuania. "That's the next level. I've got nothing to lose and I'm in with a good shout. I am in much better shape now. Anything can happen. That would be amazing [to win a medal], really, really good."

The prodigious athlete is mindful of the help he has received from his university, St Mary's in London, and his coach Craig Winrow in helping him secure qualification for the European Championships. "They have all been really good. I have got a lot to thank them for. The university has really helped me with my time management," he said.

Osagie's performance at Bedford and GB qualification also earned praise from Dame Kelly Holmes. She said: "I would like to congratulate Andrew and his coach on his excellent performances so far this season and on his selection for the European Under 23 Championships."

"Andrew is a very talented athlete and I have no doubt that he will perform very well in Lithuania and that it will be a valuable learning experience for him."

Osagie has been on two special training camps with the former double Olympic Gold Medal winner.

Injury double blow mars Harlow victory

They bowled beautifully tying the Billericay batters down - with only opener Paul Southgate (79) threatening to break the shackles.

Harlow bowled Billericay out for 151. Zada claimed 5-43 and Jessey took 3-33 with his off breaks.

Skipper Butler said: "He [Zada] was great, turned the ball square and bowled a good quicker ball that the opposition struggled to pick."	SHEPHERD NEAME ESSEX CRICKET LEAGUE

The Harlow reply started badly as Lee Jessey was trapped lbw first ball by John Walter before Waqas Akhtar fell for a bright 23.

When James Butler went for 2, followed by the promoted Iain Nuttall (2) and Darren Green (0), Harlow were struggling on 60-5.

However, Rehman Ahmed and Calvino batted patiently and effectively against disciplined seam bowling.

With only 19 needed and the rain starting, Ahmed was clean bowled after a magnificent 66.

Nazir then fell lbw first ball but Ryan Jessey joined Calvino and victory was achieved with several lusty blows from the blade of Jessey (13 not out).

Other results:- Harlow seconds (118, John Ray 51) lost by eight wickets against South Woodford (121-2).

Other matches involving Harlow teams were abandoned due to rain.

Lyon roars at award night

CELEBRATION: Award winners with their cups and prizes at the Harlow & District Football League presentation evening. (s)

ROUGE Lyon had a huge backlog of fixtures at the end of last season but they overcame this barrier to win the Harlow & District Football League premier division title.

Rouge coach Will King picked up the trophy and the Harlow & District League Cup for them at the League's presentation evening held at Fairways in Harlow.

Maypole Athletic reserves were the division one winners while James Whitbread (Old Town) and Stuart Zanone (Maypole Athletic reserves) respectively picked up the premier division and division one top scorer awards.

James Latham won the referees award and Terry Rackley received it on his behalf.

John Kitchen picked up the division five Sportsmanship Award.

Epping Athletic were the Division Three Cup winners and secretary Lisa Toms picked up the trophy.

Others who picked up awards on the night were: Steve Buckley (best newcomer referee); Dean Moore (manager of division two winners Maiden); Kevin Payne (coach of division five champions and Division Five Cup winners Brookside Athletic reserves); Kieran Sudden (player with League Plate winners and division four runners-up Skipper Rangers); Liam Willis (coach with division three champions Sewardstone Rovers).

This classy dog can win, No Joke

Welcome to Inside Track, our column that gives you the reader an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow (Friday July 3).

FORMER top-class greyhound NO JOKE KEANO reappears at Harlow Stadium this Friday night and looks a great bet to end a long losing run.

His best days seem to be behind him but he has retained plenty of ability and should prove to be too classy for his five opponents.

SAFE BET SONNY has been in consistent form lately and can provide the forecast link.

MARTHA DALEY made an encouraging debut last week, finishing second to a much more experienced rival.

She is sure to improve considerably from that outing and may well be up to winning in what looks a moderate contest.

Other greyhounds to keep an eye out for are the Kim Marlow trained duo DROHANS CHOICE and ARDMAYLE LASS.

Friday July 3 Selections:

7.30pm Phils Hotshow; 7.45pm Nosey Peg; 8pm Martha Daley; 8.15pm Dods Blue Eyes; 8.30pm Drohans Choice; 8.45pm Ardmayle Lass; 9pm Harlow Girl; 9.15pm Funcheon Ash; 9.30pm Trout City; 9.45pm Molly Alice; 10pm Queens Buzz; 10.15pm Julies Protege; 10.30pm No Joke Keano.

Jared joy in 5th at Stortford 10

Running

JARED Bethell was the first Harlow Running Club member to complete the Bishop's Stortford 10-mile road race.

Bethell was fifth out of a field of 194 runners in one hour, 4 mins and 26 secs in Sunday's race which was marked by intense heat.

He was followed home by Andrew Terrell (25th, 1:12.38) and Jon Steadman (31st, 1:14.15).

The first Harlow woman finisher was Vicky Steadman in a personal best time (PB) of 1:18.48 (57th).

There were also PBs for Vicky Bassett (123rd, 1:31.32), David Burne (157th, 1:39.51) and Alan Clucas (182nd, 1:47.14).

Other Harlow RC results: David Ayling 61st, 1:19.22; Sean Flynn 65th, 1:20.28; Grahame Thomas 67th, 1:20.55; Alan Cootes 71st, 1:21.52; Katie Herrington 84th, 1:25.06; Martin McColgan 94th, 1:26.25; Ron Newton 134th, 1:33.38; Wendy Spring 168th, 1:43.03; John Smith 169th, 1:43.04; Susan Dewen 181st, 1:47.09.

In the 10K race at Stortford on the same day, Pasquale Pellicchia finished in 45:36.

He was followed home by John Ramonet (66:52) and Susie Morley (71:49).

Meanwhile, at the Borehamwood Half Marathon John Tennant finished as second vet 50 in 1:31.10.

Letchworth prove too strong

HARLOW Squash Club's second team met their match when they lost 3-0 to a very determined Letchworth team in division four of the Herts League.

First string Vinh Tram managed to stay close to his opponent in the first set, losing narrowly 12-15. The second set was easily conceded 6-15 but Vinh fought hard in the third set, losing 13-15. Second string Peter Iszatt lost in straight sets: 4-15, 13-15, 9-15.

Third string Richard Lewis went down 3-1 (12-15, 12-15, 15-13, 5-15).

So three and easy for Town

Dunmow 199, Harlow Tn 202-3

Harlow Tn won by 7 wickets Herts & Essex League, (division two)

AN amazing first half to the season was completed by all three Harlow Town teams who between them have now won an incredible 26 out of 27 games.

All three are in good positions to gain promotion from their respective divisions.

The first team completed a fine seven-wicket win at Dunmow seconds on Saturday.

Town lost the toss and were asked to bowl on a flat looking wicket.

Town claimed a couple of early wickets but Dunmow fought back with Nick Coupe (37) and Oli Bush (48) adding 75 for the third wicket on a great pitch for batting.

SHINING STAR: Ramya Upadhyay again starred with the bat for Harlow Town (SPT-QY2XJ99Z-11)

However, these two fell in quick succession and when the hosts were unable to increase their run rate, the innings faltered to a below-par score of 199 all out.

Dan Calver (3-35) and Ash Alderson (3-35) were the main wicket takers.

In reply, Ramya Upadhyay starred with the bat for Town.

He hit a quickfire unbeaten 75 as the visitors knocked off the 200 runs they needed for victory with ease.

Upadhyay was well supported by the in-form Jason Gladwin (59).

This duo put on 103 for the third wicket as Town reached the target with more than 11 overs to spare.

The team remain unbeaten and will approach their home clash against second-placed Theydon Bois this Saturday in good spirits.

Town's second team beat Bengoe by 21 runs in their division four match and moved clear at the top for the first time this season.

Town scored 207-9 to win with Charlie Coleman (56) and Karl Seecharan (40) among the runs.

Bengoe fell short of the target thanks to tight bowling from Nick Teale (3-28) and David Pistorius (3-24).

Harlow Town thirds (180-9) won a tight match at Takeley seconds by one wicket and stay top in division seven.

Key contributions came from Wade Norcott (46) and John Simpson (37).

Div three result: Potter Street (120-0) beat Little Hallingbury (119) by 10 wickets.

Bowen celebrates Rockets promotion

LUKE Bowen celebrated his promotion to the top five of the Rye House Rockets hierarchy from his current reserve berth by scorching to a paid 12 points in the Hoddesdon team's 56-37 Premier League win over Glasgow.

The Harlow rider has been rewarded for his recent upsurge in form with a 6.10 average, and his first appearance as number five in the racing line-up was due to be in last night's (Wednesday) league match at King's Lynn.

Bowen said following Saturday's victory: "It's been a great meet for both the team and myself. I messed up my first ride but after that it all went really well."

"The best one had to be Heat 11 against Tomas Topinka. I really enjoy beating the top boys – that's what it's all about and it's what keeps the crowd happy!"

"It was another big score for us. We all scored well right through. I've worked really hard this season, and it's paid off with my move into the main body of the team."

"Now the plan is to stay there through to the end of the season."

Rockets skipper Chris Neath now takes on the number one mantle, with Robert Mear moving to the No.2 heat leader spot.

With the score at 21-15 in Rockets' favour, the match against Glasgow effectively turned on Heats 7 and 8 which both produced 5-15 for the Rockets.

Sundstrom won Heat 7 from the front, and was joined there by Bowen, who supplied a tremendous fourth-to-first display to get past both Brent Werner and Rusty Harrison.

Bowen and Sundstrom later both came from the back to overhaul the previously unbeaten Topinka in Heat 11.

The Rockets return to regular Saturday night home action this weekend as they face the defending Premier League champions Edinburgh Monarchs (7pm).

Rye House scorers: J Lyons (guest) 10+2 (from five rides); T Allen 8+1 (5); C Neath 6+4 (5); L Sundstrom 12+1 (6); L Bowen 11+1 (5); A Silver 9 (4).

Alex a national treasure at school championships

HARLOW Athletic Club member Alex Hill secured a gold and a silver in the National Independent Schools Championships at Birmingham.

Saint Nicholas School pupil Alex (15) qualified for the event by winning both the 200m and 300m sprints at the East Anglia regional heats.

In the 300m final at Birmingham's Alexander Stadium, Alex's superb run resulted in a clear win in a time of 41.8s.

The result places her just outside the UK top 50 for U-17 girls.

In the 200m, Alex went neck and neck with the eventual winner but was beaten into second place at the finish line.

However, her time of 25.8s was just outside the UK top 50 for U-17 girls and meets the English Schools entry standard.

Alex's Harlow Athletic Club coach Nat Fisher said: "Alex is still relatively new to athletics and is making steady progress. She works hard and she still has a year in the U-17 age group."

"Both her performances in Birmingham show how well she can do in competition."

Boxer seals points win

DARREN Gilligan won a light middleweight contest with an unanimous points decision at a meeting in Hitchin on Sunday.

The 21-year-old Harlow ABC fighter was well worth his victory over Q. Haydari (North Herts ABC) in a three-round contest.

Gilligan had the edge as he picked off his Hertfordshire opponent who sustained a cut to his nose in the second round and was forced to hold on in the third round.

The fight was held in extremely hot conditions.

Steve Andrew, Gilligan's coach, said: "Darren kept it at long range with the jab in the first two rounds with the jab and boxed well but got involved in too much of a battle in the last round."

Andy's 1:47 break

Athlete
secures GB
spot at Euro Champs with fantastic win

ANDREW Osagie clocked his fastest competitive time in more than two years to secure a place in the Great Britain squad for the European U-23 Championships.

The 21-year-old Harlow Athletic Club 800m runner gave the UK selectors a real headache when he stormed through the field to take first place in the AAA Championships at the Bedford International Stadium on Sunday.

He needed to run 1 min 47 secs – the UK qualifying time – and he recorded 1:47.70 for victory in the men's event ahead of Blackburn Harriers' Paul Bradshaw in second (1:48.48) and Cambridge & Coleridge's Ed Aston in third (1:48.68). Osagie's previous best this season was 1:48.16.

"It all seemed to come together in the end," he told Star Sport. "I'm really happy. There was a little bit more pressure. But there were no excuses – I had to win!"

"I knew I was capable of running that time."

Osagie, right, admitted it was a dream come true to gain selection for the GB team. He received a letter from UK Athletics confirming his selection on Tuesday.

"I have been waiting two-and-a-half years and now it's finally come and I'm really, really happy," he said.

He will head out to Kaunas in Lithuania for the European Championships which start on July 16.

The youngster returns to his Northbrooks home tomorrow (Friday) to spend the weekend with his family and get a well-earned rest.

Osagie eased through his heat and semi-final on Saturday to make the final.

The combination of shin splints and a foot injury had dogged his fledgling career.

The foot injury is still proving a problem but Osagie is determined to aim for a top eight spot at the Euro Champs. He is now ranked 14th in Europe (U-23s).

Injury double blow mars Harlow victory

Billericay 151,
Harlow 153-7

Harlow won by 3 wickets
Shepherd Neame Essex
League, division two

JASON McNally and wicket-keeper Nino Calvino have sustained terrible hand injuries and will be ruled out for the rest of the season.

McCarthy, a key all-rounder, sustained an horrific finger injury in a freak accident while coaching in Ware last week.

Then in the warm-up before Saturday's home win over Billericay, Calvino sustained a broken thumb.

He got hit on the thumb again when 'keeping and skipper James Butler had to take over those duties.

Calvino bravely defied his injury to make 16 not out with the bat, but will be unable to play again this term after a fracture was later revealed at hospital.

Skipper Butler said: "This is a real shame for Nino and the club. He has been great with the gloves this year."

"Jason has been talismanic and he will be sidelined for several months."

Harlow had to show their strength in depth with Nick Butler (holiday) and Abhishek Jhunjunwala (Indian Premier Cricket League commitments) away on Saturday.

Billericay batted first and the first wicket fell on 23 when Zap Nazir struck, removing Martin Guilbert as he played on for 1.

As Nazir and Heskett tired, Butler turned to his two new players – leg spinner Kalim Zada and second eleven captain and first team debutant Ryan Jessey.
